OVERVIEW OF THE CMCA: THE ESSENTIAL CREDENTIAL FOR COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION MANAGERS

The Community Association Managers International Certification Board (CAMICB) is an independent, not-for-profit organization formed to establish and administer an international certification program developed solely for community association managers. The Certified Manager of Community Associations (CMCA) credential sets standards for measuring the knowledge and proficiency required for community management.

CMCA's have passed a rigorous exam, demonstrating they have a proven and solid understanding of the many diverse business operations involved in being a community association manager.

CMCA's have more advanced career opportunities and earn, on average, 20% more than non-credentialed managers.* The credential is recognized internationally, enabling CMCA's to enjoy a truly portable career, with the ability to do business in a variety of markets across different cities, states, and countries.

The CMCA credential provides an assurance to community association homeowners and volunteer boards that the manager has the basic knowledge necessary to effectively manage a community association. The association can have confidence in the knowledge and the ability of the manager because the manager has taken the initiative to complete the stringent requirements for certification.

RECERTIFYING YOUR CMCA

PURPOSE OF RECERTIFICATION

It is essential for competent community association management professionals to continually expand their knowledge and keep up with changing regulations in the field. When you recertify your CMCA, you demonstrate a continued dedication to advancing your knowledge and skills as a community association manager. By pursuing professional development and reaffirming your commitment to upholding the Standards of Professional Conduct, you also help to sustain the global recognition and value of the CMCA.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

To maintain the CMCA, you must meet two requirements:

- Submit a CMCA recertification application every two years, including documentation of 16 hours of continuing education credit.
- Submit payment of the $135 annual service fee each year.

RECERTIFICATION TIMELINE

You will be placed in one of two CMCA recertification cycles, depending on the date of initial certification. If you earned the credential from January to June, your deadline to recertify and pay the annual service fee will be April 1. If you were certified between July and December, your deadline will be October 1.

Payment of the annual service fee will be due each year on or before your specified deadline. Submission of the recertification application will be due every other year on or before the deadline.

CMCA RECERTIFICATION APPLICATION

- You must submit a completed CMCA recertification application with 16 hours of approved continuing education every two years.
- If you have met the continuing education requirements associated with one of the following approved licenses or credentials for at least one year, that will satisfy the continuing education requirement:

—Association Management Specialist (AMS)

—Florida Community Association Management License (FL CAM)

—Professional Community Association Manager (PCAM)

—Nevada Community Manager Certification (NV CAM)

—National Association for Housing Cooperatives Registered Cooperative Manager (NAHC-RCM)

- Regardless of how you meet the recertification requirements, you must still submit a completed CMCA recertification application every other year.

ANNUAL SERVICE FEE REQUIREMENT

You must submit payment of the $135 CMCA annual service fee each year. You will be sent a copy of your invoice via mail and email 90 days before your payment deadline. All fees are non-refundable and non-transferable, without exception.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDIT

There are a variety of pathways to earn CMCA continuing education credits. CAMICB calculates credit on an hour-for-hour basis, meaning that one hour of class attended equals one hour of CMCA credit. Credit for a course may only be submitted one time per recertification cycle. Courses that relate to the buying and selling of real estate are not accepted.

You can earn continuing education credits toward your CMCA by taking courses that have been pre-approved by CAMICB.

VERIFICATION AND AUDIT OF RECERTIFICATION APPLICATIONS

You are responsible for maintaining a record of your continuing education credits throughout the recertification cycle. CAMICB does not track completion of continuing education coursework.

When you apply to recertify your CMCA, you will be asked to list the details of each course that you completed within the recertification cycle. You will not be required to provide evidence of completion with the application.

After submitting your recertification application, you may be selected for an audit of your continuing education coursework. If you are selected, you will need to provide proof of attendance, such as a certificate of completion, for the coursework specified by CAMICB.

You will be notified via email of the acceptance of your recertification application. You will also receive an automated receipt via email when payment of your annual service fee is processed.

CAMICB's Continuing Education Gallery is continually updated with approved courses. Offerings include virtual and in-person sessions, as well as many free and low-cost options.

You are able to earn continuing education credit by taking courses from the Community Associations Institute (CAI), a separate non-profit organization. All CAI education has been pre-approved for CMCA continuing education credit. You can view CAI's education offerings in their Learning Center. The Professional Management Development Program (PMDP) courses are worth 6-16 credit hours.

Additional opportunities for earning credit include in-house training with a management company, education approved by a state regulatory agency, self-study, authoring articles for publications, and teaching courses. You may also request approval for coursework which has not previously been approved by CAMICB. Learn more about all of these options at camicb.org and in the CMCA Handbook.

FAILURE TO RECERTIFY

To maintain the CMCA, you must pay the annual service fee each year and recertify the credential every two years. Failure to meet either of these requirements will result in termination of your CMCA credential.

REINSTATEMENT

You must complete the reinstatement process to reactivate a terminated CMCA credential. Reinstatement may only be granted for a CMCA that has been inactive for less than five years. An individual who wishes to regain the CMCA after more than five years of inactivity must retake and pass the CMCA examination (full application fees apply).

The process to reinstate your CMCA can be rigorous. You are encouraged to continually maintain your CMCA through recertification to avoid the need to reinstate.

SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

Consider these options if special circumstances lead you to need extra time to recertify, or if you are considering leaving the community association management field.

Extension Request: In cases of serious hardship, CAMICB allows credential holders to petition for a one-year extension of their recertification deadline no more than once. You must submit the request to info@camicb.org prior to your recertification deadline with an explanation of the circumstances. You will still be required to pay the annual service fee.

Retired CMCA: If you retire from the field and are interested in maintaining your CMCA, you have the option to showcase your credential as CMCA (Ret.). Those who hold the CMCA (Ret.) are exempt from continuing education requirements. To qualify for the CMCA (Ret.) status, you must:

- have held the CMCA for a minimum of ten years;
- be an active CMCA certificant in good standing at the time of application;
- adhere to the CMCA Standards of Professional Conduct; and
- pay the annual $25 service fee.
